Name of Banerjea and this seems to be a mistake for Mukherji. The Amt. said to be Rs 300 — it is stated to be supported by an Ordemand. Process to be executed by the Sonargaon.

May Mr. Mukhey be asked to inform me whether the balance any documentary evidence to prove his claim & whether the Amt. now claimed includes interest & if so at what rate & on what Amt.? This will clear the doubt as to the name of the party.

Letter dated the 17th Jan. 1919 from Mr. Mukerjea of Sangor furnishes details of the Amt. due to him & sends a copy of the Plaint filed in the Addl. Sessions Judge of Sangor against the Zemindar of Mata.

Mr. Mukerjea gives the details of the amt. due to him from the Mata. The Amt. includes interest at 12% p.a. on the full sale Amt. for a period of nearly 4 months and on the balance of Amt. for nearly a year from the date of last payment & date of Suit. as well as cost of the Suit. The Amt. now Claimed is 471 Rs.

It is not likely that he will give up the Suit Charges & the interest which alone come to 171 Rs. An analysis of this Amt. is shown in the margin.

2) a spacious decent new matt (bungalow pattern) with a set of outhouses. worth abt 50000 Rs

3) a set of ~~[illegible]~~ vessels (both Copper & brass) worth about 1000 or 1500 Rs.

The minority and the condition of the boy Swamiji on the consensus of opinion of the disciples require that the Mutt affairs — with only the Mutt ~~property~~ endowments — should be taken over by Govt. Management. In view of the present situation it seems to be very necessary to know how far the present ~~Swamiji~~ and the Mutt properties will be liable for the debts of the late Swamiji. Also whether in assuming charge of the Mutt affairs the Govt will lay themselves open to the claims of any creditors. Will it make any difference

The income of the Sri Sivaganga Matt - consists chiefly of the rent that accrues from some - lands forming the bulk of the Matt's endowments, which, from the very nature of their grants, are inalienable and this does not appear to be more than about Rs. 7,000/- a year.

When on a previous occasion the affairs of the Matt came under Government management in 1893, the income was estimated at about Rs. 8,000- and the expenditure under all - heads at Rs. 6,680/- roughly. A further - expenditure of Rs. 300/- was subsequently - sanctioned for the Matt's contribution towards the Sringeri Sharada Nayar Hall and so the annual expenditure, according to orders already fixed and approved of by Government, comes to Rs. 7,180/- nearly. So that there gard to the present estimate, the necessary expenditure exceeds the income.

Now that the present Head of the Matt is a minor Swami and the affairs of the Matt have to be managed either by Government or by any other agency approved of by Government and there is no other separate personal property of the late Swami, various questions arise as to how far the estates of the Matt are to be bound by the transactions entered into and debts contracted by the late Swami.

It has been well established by a series of decisions of the High Courts in India and particularly by the Madras High Court before which such questions have come up for decision from time to time, that the head of a Matt is not merely in the position of a trustee but also in the nature of a tenant for life in respect of all the permanent endowments of the Institution. He has an absolute property in the income derived from the offerings of his followers, subject only to the burden of maintaining the institution.

It has been held in one of the latest cases on the subject that ever alienations made by the head of a Matt will not bind the successors, though the successor may validate a transfer, but even such validation order tends only to the period during which such successor holds the office and will not bind his successors.

Under these circumstances the acts of the Head of a Matt, will not bind either the successor or the matt's properties except -- under certain circumstances.

In regard to the question of the owers of the Head of a Matt to contract debts, it has been held that he cannot alienate or charge the corpus of the Matt's property or the income beyond his own life-time so as to bind the Matt or its successors, except for purposes really necessary for the maintenance of the Matt.

What are the necessary purposes for -- which the Head of a Matt could be considered to have the power to pledge the credit or charge the endowed properties of the matt so as to -- bind the successors is a question not easy to an answer. To answer this question satisfactorily, we have to see what are the objects of such an institution. This question has been answered by Hon Justice Sir V. Bhashyam Aiyangar, in one of his reported judgments, as follows.--

"The object of the Matts is [illegible]
"promotion of religious knowledge, [illegible]
"parting of spiritual [illegible]
"disciples and followers of the [illegible]

incurred in furtherance of such objects

Any necessary expenditure, of course, within reasonable limits having due regard to the means of the matt, may therefore, be taken to be binding. To this may be added expenditure incurred for necessary pujas and ceremonies which the head of such an institution is bound to perform.

In one case decided by the Madras High Court the question of debts contracted for the purpose of distribution of clothes on ceremonial occasions by a matt had arisen and in that particular case, having regard to the fact that such distributions were usually made on such occasions and as there was no allegation that the gifts of cloth were in any way disproportionate to the large revenues of the institution, the expenditure was allowed.

If we scrutinize the figures relating to the assets, liabilities and the annual income of the Sivaganga Matt, we find that the matt is hopelessly indebted and that debts have been contracted without regard to the limited income.

It is impossible to make any general observations in regarding the binding nature of all the debts contracted by the late Swamis ~~all the liabilities of~~ each case has to be dealt with on its own merits.

In the case of accumulated salaries, I am afraid, in many cases the claims are barred and there will be no legal liability to pay them. But as these were necessary items of expenditure, there will be a moral obligation on the Matt or its Managers to pay such balances justly due.

NOTE—Contn sheet

Serial No.

In the caseof other debts the Matt's properties will be liable only if the debts have been contracted ~~contracted~~ for necessary purposes indicated above.

The sum of Rs. 80,065/- said to be due to a shawl merchant is a fabulous figure and I do not know how the Plaintiff will be able to satisfy any court of law about any necessary purposes for which this heavy debt was incurred. I am sure the Matt or the Government, if it --- should assume management, will have very good grounds to oppose such a claim.

In taking over the management of the Matt affairs Goyernment will merely represent the - Matt, and no creditor can possibly have any -- claim against the Government.

The two drafts referred to are in order. The claim regarding the balance due towards the price of the motor car appears to be just and it is better to settle it out of court, if possible.

Sir,

In reply to your letter Mys. No 1450, dated Bangalore the 13th inst., I enclose herein a true copy of the plaint, signed by my pleaders, in my suit against the Shri Shivaganga Mutt. This will give you a general idea about the nature of my claim.

Further, I add the following particulars:—

(1) The letter promising to pay Rs 1800/— the price of the car, is filed along with the plaint and is referred to therein.

(2) The car was sold in February 1917, and the promise was to pay the price in two months. Simple interest only, at the rate of 1/- P.C.P.m has been charged from July 1917 to date of suit, and not from February 1917.

(3) It was out of consideration, for the Mutt, that the car, which was a brand-new one, and could easily be sold for Rs 2500/-, was sold out for Rs 1800/— only.

(4) The full particulars of the transaction are known to Pandit Venkatesha Shastri agent of the Mutt

(5) All the original, letters, notes etc in the handwriting of, either the late Swamiji, or the agent Shivaganga are filed in the suit.

(6) So, now my claim stands thus :——

| | | Rs |
